WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- Chemical pathologists and healthcare professionals
- Medical laboratory scientists and technologists
- Representatives from hospital administration responsible for laboratory services
- Policymakers involved in healthcare standards
- Representatives from industry and diagnostic companies supporting clinical laboratory operations

WHY SHOULD I ATTEND?

- Stay updated with the latest trends and standards in clinical laboratories.
- Learn practical strategies to improve accuracy and reliability in lab results through accuracy-based EQAP and measurement uncertainty.
- Understand the impact of accuracy-based EQAP on patient care and policy-making.
- Influence the future of lab quality in Malaysia by sharing insights and feedback in stakeholder dialogues.
- Network with peers, policymakers, accreditation bodies, and metrology experts to foster collaboration and professional growth.

ORGANISED BY:

The Health Sciences Authority (HSA) is a statutory board under Singapore's Ministry of Health. It is the designated institute for chemical metrology in Singapore. Since 2011, HSA has been providing accuracy-based EQAPs with a focus on clinical markers for chronic diseases.

The National Metrology Institute of Malaysia (NMIM) upholds the nation's measurement standards and plays a key role in supporting laboratories through metrology services that enhance the accuracy of measurement results.

The Malaysian Association of Clinical Biochemists (MACB) unites professionals in clinical chemistry, promoting standards, education, and best practices to support high-quality patient care.

MINISTRY OF INVESTMENT, TRADE AND INDUSTRY
DEPARTMENT OF STANDARDS MALAYSIA

The Department of Standards Malaysia (JSM) oversees laboratory accreditation, advancing clinical chemistry quality and aligning standards with international benchmarks.
